

Rania Maaraba: Question

Is it better you think to put it all in a separate main to run the program? I tend to shmeer everything into one big file and run it like that. Also, if we would've modified our code to make it read user input instead of reading what you already had written in would it have made a huge difference other than the obvious fact it would need some tweaks due to using user input.